SURVIVORS OF SAN DIEGO ARE LANDED TODAY

Over 1100 Arrive In New York During the Night

BELIEVE CRUISER WAS A VICTIM OF GERMAN U-BOAT

No Civilians Allowed Access to Survivors and Information Refused

NEW YORK, July 20.—Forty-eight members of the crew of the United States Cruiser San Diego, sunk yesterday off Fire Island, still are unaccounted for, after checking of reports of rescuing steamers made to naval officers here today.

The cruiser had 1255 men on board, according to the figures at hand. Of this number 1176 were landed here by three rescue ships and 31 in boats on Fire Island beach.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Although Captain Christy of the armored cruiser San Diego reported his belief that it was a torpedo that sent the ship down off Long Island yesterday, further reports today showing that five or six mines were destroyed by warships in the vicinity last night strengthened the opinion of naval officers here that an enemy submarine was not responsible for the disaster.

A statement issued today by Rear Admiral Palmer, acting secretary of the navy, commends the exemplary conduct of the officers and men of the San Diego, citing particularly the courageous behavior of Captain Christy, who was the last to leave the ship.

As the ship was turning over the captain made his way over the side and jumped overboard. He and the executive officer were cheered by the men in the boats and as the cruiser went down the men sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

The statement disclosed that five or six mines were destroyed last night in the vicinity of the sinking and that no reports have been received of a submarine near there.

It is learned that the captain's report showed that the explosion could not have been internal because there was nothing in the ship at that place to explode. The department also has satisfactory evidence that the ship could not have struck an American mine, so apparently the only possible explanation of the destruction of the ship aside from that of a submarine attack is that she encountered a mine dropped by U boats before they left the American coast.

Following is a dispatch from the chief of staff of cruiser forces, based on Captain Christy's report, made public by the navy department:

ASK PROTECTION FROM BANDITS IN ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, July 20.—Citizens of Santa Cruz territory in southern Argentina, have telegraphed President Yrigoyen asking him to send troops to protect them from a band of three hundred mounted bandits who have entered Argentina from Chile and are spreading terror in the vicinity of Lake Buenos Aires on the Argentine side of the Andes.

The bandits are reported to have been joined by 100 Argentinean outlaws. Chilean police have entered Argentinean territory in pursuit of the bandits. Details of the situation are lacking because of poor telegraphic facilities.

18,000 PRISONERS REPORTED TAKEN BY THE ALLIES

French Forces Advance On Rheims Front For a 1,000 Yard Gain

OUR LINES NOW ONLY MILE AND HALF FROM SOISSONS

British Also Make Gains and Carry Out Successful Raids

LONDON, July 20.—The number of German prisoners taken in the Franco-American offensive now has reached 18,000.

On the Rheims front the French forces have advanced for a distance of 1,000 yards between Souain and Auberville. The French also made slight progress near Pourcy.

Further advances by the French in the field of the German offensive, both north and south of the Marne are reported this afternoon.

South of the Marne the French have taken Bois de Misy, and reached Part-a-Binson on the river.

North of the Marne the French captured the town of Marfaux, southeast of Bigny, after heavy fighting, and moved forward west of Pourcy.

ALLIED GAINS

LONDON, July 20.—The allied gains on the front of the Aisne-Marne offensive have been further extended along the line between Montaigne de Paris, a mile and a half southwest of Soissons, on the north, to Belleau, five miles northwest of Chateau-Thierry on the south.

The French line now passes through Fontenoy, Pendants, Bery Le Sec, Villemon Poire, north of Le Plessier-Huleu, Choury, Neuilly-St. Front and Sennelans.

The French advanced on an average of one mile on a 20-mile front between noon yesterday and 9 o'clock last night.

The French line has not been advanced further toward Soissons, but the front is now very close to the main road opposite Ville-Montore, six miles south of Soissons. Ville-Montore is an important center for the transport of German troops.

BRITISH ALSO GAIN.

LONDON, July 20.—British troops last night advanced their line on a mile front south of the town of Hebuterne, the war office announced.

A successful raid was carried out by the British near Beaumont Hamel.

Hebuterne is about midway on the front between Albert and Arras. Beaumont Hamel is two and a half miles south of Hebuterne.

As the result of yesterday's operations on the Flanders front the British line was advanced along a breadth of 4,000 yards in the Meteren sector. The village of Meteren and a group of buildings southwest of the village, known as Le Waton are now held by the British troops. The prisoners taken aggregate 436.

FRENCH AND AMERICAN TROOPS ADVANCE 10 MILES; TAKE 17,000 PRISONERS

GERMAN EFFORT, AFTER THE ENEMY HAD ADVANCED FOUR TO FIVE MILES ON A 23- MILE FRONT

PARIS, July 20.—The chief of staff pointed out that with this railroad in allied control the German withdrawal from the sector, south of the Marne, would be rendered difficult and their main railway line to the rear would be lost. He indicated that an attempt to withdraw is anticipated.

The latest German drive was intended as a "nut-cracker operation" against the city of Rheims, General March said. This drive had been definitely stopped when General Foch struck on the right flank of the German effort, after the enemy had advanced four to five miles on a 23-mile front.

In response to questions, General March said the Illinois National Guard division, commanded by Major General George Bell, jr., was in the English training sector. A unit of this division last week cooperated with the Australians in a successful advance already reported.

The six American divisions operating on the Aisne-Marne front are operating as divisions and not as a location from day to day depends upon the developments in the battle.

The 77th national army division, composed largely of New Jersey troops, but including New York and Delaware, is in line near Luneville. It is operating as a division under its own commander.

No report on casualties among the Americans engaged has reached the war department.

Allied military opinion, General March said, is unanimous that the German offensive movement has been completely stopped.

Complete satisfaction with the present situation and the progress of the French and American attack, according to senators, was expressed by the war department experts.

The military situation was outlined to the senators with maps and the double-flanking movement against the Germans pocketed between Rheims and Soissons explained.

It was emphasized by senators later that in the present offensive the Americans are not engaged in an enterprise of their own and have no separate corps under distinctively American command.

Regarding the German claims that they took 20,000 prisoners in their recent offensive, General March said

LONDON, July 20.—The Germans on the front south of the Marne have suffered a repulse by the French and are retreating northward across the river, Reuters correspondents at French headquarters telegraphs this afternoon.

GERMANS FORCED ACROSS MARNE.

ON THE FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, JULY 20.—The Germans have been repulsed and are crossing the Marne to the northward.

PARIS, July 20.—French and American troops are continuing their advance between the Aisne and the Marne, according to an official statement issued by the war office today.

South of the Marne the French have thrown back the enemy between Fossoy and Oeuilly and have retaken ground towards the Marne.

The allied advance has reached the line of Vierzy, beyond the wood of Manloy, east of Villers-Helon and Neuilly St. Front.

The statement follows:

"Yesterday and last night French and American troops continued their advance over greater part of the front between the Aisne and the Marne."

"Vierzy has been reached and the troops have gone beyond Manloy road, east of Villers-Helon, and conquered Neuilly-St. Front, Icy-Clignon. South of the Aisne our troops have driven back the Germans between Fossoy and Oeuilly, and have gained ground toward the Marne."

BATTLEFRONT EXTENDED.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE Aisne-Marne Front, July 20.—(8:30 a. m.)—The battle zone along the front of the allied counter-attack between the Aisne and the Marne is being extended further south towards Chateau-Thierry than the region previously affected, according to information early this morning.

The Franco-American forces are continuing the steady pounding of the northern part of the line near Soissons, although the movement is lacking the dashing advance which characterized the first days of the attack.

The attempts of the crown prince's generals to rally their forces to meet the steady movement of the allies has resulted in such strengthening of the opposition as to indicate that the battle is approaching the point when the armies will soon be locked in a giant struggle.

Both on the northern end of the line and further south the reinforced Germans are making a desperate effort to hold their positions.

The weather was clear this morning and this gave some satisfaction to the thousands of men engaged on the allied side. The indications, however, were that the day would be one of exceptional heat.

AMERICANS PUSH FORWARD IN FACE OF MACHINE-GUN FIRE

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY BETWEEN the Aisne and Marne, Friday, July 19.—(Night)—American troops participating in the Franco-American advance late today on about a mile and a quarter on the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry front, went forward against strong machine-gun fire over ground covered with German dead.

From a hill, east of Domancourt, about six kilometres southwest of Soissons, the correspondent, Friday, saw the Americans going into action in the forward movement. The advance was well-organized and the system worked well from one end of the line to the other.

Under a barrage fire from 75s and 55s, American infantry and machine-guns advanced through rippling grain fields, trampled by the retreating Germans, Thursday, and reached their objectives, according to schedule despite the fire of German machine-guns. The bombardment of the big German guns was feeble at this point.

NEWARK'S WATER SYSTEM.

The interruption of service at the water pumping station demands the fullest investigation and immediate action under the direction of competent engineers.

The city has suffered during the past week through an insufficient water supply due first to a break in the main at the pumping station, again from a break in another pipe and now from a mishap, the repair of which awaits the arrival of two check valves from the east.

The service given by this municipal plant would not be tolerated from private ownership for a moment.

The remedy is for the city to give authority for the employment of capable engineers with instructions to proceed immediately with such repairs and alterations as are needed to put the entire system in good working order with the least possible delay. Expense under the circumstances cuts no figure. The city demands real water service and by that is meant not only proper pressure but pure drinking water and there must be no delay in bringing it about.

GERMAN AVIATORS CONFIRM DEATH OF LIEUT. ROOSEVELT

(Associated Press Telegram)
Paris, July 20.—German aviators have dropped a note into American aviation camps confirming the death of Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt.

Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt, whose death while flying an aviator in the American ranks is confirmed from German sources, was the youngest son of the former president. He disappeared last Sunday morning during a combat between American and German machines, 10 miles in the enemy lines in the Chateau-Thierry sector. Two machines attacked Lieutenant Roosevelt and one of the machines was seen to tumble to the ground. Search for him after the battle revealed no traces and it was evident that Lieutenant Roosevelt's machine had gone down. One report was that the machine caught fire, while another account said that it was not in flames when it was seen to fall.

Lack of official confirmation of the lieutenant's death prompted some hope that he might have been made a prisoner.

Lieutenant Roosevelt, who spent his boyhood in the White House, was 21 years old, and a student at Harvard when the United States entered the war. With his three other brothers he enlisted for service. Quentin joined the Canadian aviation corps. He was transferred to the American army and began active service in France this spring. He brought down his first German airplane in a fight north of Chateau-Thierry on July 10.

Lieutenant Roosevelt's death is the third casualty in the Roosevelt family. Captain Archibald Roosevelt was wounded severely on March 11, and has not yet returned to active duty. The captain won the French war cross for bravery. Major Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., the eldest son, was gassed about three weeks ago, and cited for bravery. Kermit Roosevelt, who accepted a commission in the British army, recently was transferred to the American forces in France.

ALLIED TROOPS PUSHING

near the shell-shattered village of Missy-Aux-Bois, advancing nearly a kilometre before the Germans began to reply with their big guns to the American barrage. Missy-Aux-Bois lies in a valley and the Americans were advancing up-grade toward the east. A few tanks were here and there preceding the infantry. As the Americans progressed, the enemy barrage fire increased. The hill-sides, south of Dommeries, over which the Americans advanced, were dotted with dead. The entire region was within the German lines until after the Franco-American offensive on Thursday. One quickly-dug trench had been filled with German bodies. They were machine-gunners who had been caught by the terrific fire of the allied artillery.

In many places the German dead were in piles, while a trench on the crest of a hill contained more than 100 bodies.

After intense barrage fire along the entire front from Soissons to Chateau-Thierry the allied advance this evening opened exactly at 5:20 o'clock.

As far as the eye could reach could be seen observation balloons, while the sky was specked with allied airplanes, darting in various directions, many returning from over the German lines to make a quick report on observations and the result of the fire of the big guns. From the hill-side the smoke and dust thrown up by the allied shells could be seen away beyond the advancing Americans.

Behind the advancing troops came American trucks loaded with chocolate, tobacco and various foodstuffs. These went back and forth steadily. Other trucks went from place to place providing foodstuffs and water for the Americans who were to follow their advancing comrades.

Twenty-five minutes after the Franco-American advance began, the rattle of German machine guns could be heard in the distance, but it did not affect the Americans who only appeared more eager to progress. The officers had to caution them not to proceed beyond the barrage in accordance with the schedule. The German machine guns continued to fire but a short time, and as the Americans could be seen steadily pressing forward eastward the rattle dwindled and finally stopped. Missy-Aux-Bois was deserted by the French peasants before the Germans came, the village having been torn from end-to-end by shell-fire in previous fighting. Not one wall or any stone buildings are standing. The only living thing in the village, which is now within the allied lines, were three pigeons, which roosted on the fragments of the steeple of the village church during the rout of the battle. They flew around in circles in bewilderment, returning to their roosting place and then flew around again.

To the north and south of Missy-Aux-Bois are two other deserted villages in one of which every building is in ruins. The fields in this section are covered with grain ready for the harvest. Many rusty tools and implements are standing just where they were left when the alarm came.

When darkness settled over the battlefield the Americans still maintained their advance. The great guns of the artillery were pounding away, guarding them through the night.

(Compiled from A. P. Dispatches.)

Over the greater part of the line between the Aisne and the Marne the French and Americans are still pushing eastward. Their most pronounced new progress appears to have been chiefly on the more southerly part of the line, the dash in the northern sector having apparently slowed up somewhat.

The allied forces control the plateau to the southwest of Soissons. This important town, however, is still holding out. Further south the allied advance has established itself at the village of Vierz, has passed the Mauloy wood, east of Villers-Hellon, and has driven to the towns of Neuilly-St. Front and Lick-Clignon. The capture of Neuilly-St. Front, one of the most important towns in the field of the advance south of the Ourcq, was officially announced this morning.

Dispatches said the fighting today was spreading southward toward Chateau-Thierry. Indications were, it was stated, that a great battle all along the Aisne-Marne line seemed to be impending, the Germans having brought up reinforcements in an effort to stop the steady push of the allies.

South of the Marne there has been a tightening of the defensive arc along the 14 1/2 mile line between Fossoy and Oeuilly where the Germans are fighting with the river at their backs.

Attacks by the French last night caused the Germans to fall back still further along this line.

During the fighting early this week, American troops retook Fossoy and were mentioned as being engaged in the battle along the heights east of that place. They are therefore probably engaged in the advance officially reported from Paris. German marks the apex point where the German line crosses the Marne and turns northeast over the rolling hills toward Rheims. Pursuing the policy of conservatism the French war office makes no extreme claims of victory along the Aisne-Marne front. The front, as delineated in official reports, leaves the Clignon river near Torcy, runs north through Lick-Clignon and Neuilly-St. Front, turns slightly to the east to Mauloy wood, thence north to Vierz and up over the higher ground to the hills southwest of Soissons.

There have been reports of allied forces being far to the east of this line but they have not been officially confirmed. It seems probable that the German tenure of Soissons has been greatly weakened and it is quite possible that some allied forces are further east than the positions indicated in the official reports. The actual results officially announced as achieved, however, with important territory taken and more than 17,000 prisoners and 800 guns captured constitute a decidedly brilliant success for the Franco-American drive to date.

In the Aisne-Marne drive there appears to be an effort which is seemingly succeeding to straighten the front all the way north from the Clignon river, about five miles northwest of Chateau-Thierry. The movement does not at present appear to be a great encircling operation. It is rather a methodical push all along the western side of the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry-Rheims salient.

As such it must still be considered a defensive action that is going on. Its character may change to an of-

BERLIN ADMITS WE HAVE PENETRATED AT SOME POINTS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, July 20.—A semi-official telegram received here from Berlin while admitting "that the enemy has succeeded in penetrating into and pressing back our lines at some points," avoids particulars of the allied success. The telegram calls the Franco-American offensive "a relief offensive brought about by the German offensive on both sides of Rheims," and adds:

"The attack was carried out by very strong and deeply echeloned forces supported by low-flying airplanes and numerous tank squadrons. Before some sectors between the Aisne and northwest of Chateau-Thierry some 80 tanks were counted in the first attacks."

Lieutenant General Baron von Ardenne, commenting in the Tageblatt on the German offensive, says:

"We clearly are only at the beginning of probably the greatest battle in the entire history of the world. Most severe fighting still lies ahead. It would be presumptuous and had taste to talk already about the fresh destruction of enemy-fighting forces."

it was entirely probable, but it was offset by what has been accomplished in the counter-offensive. That further progress the French and Americans will make in their counter-offensive was not being predicted. Particular satisfaction over failure of the Germans to capture Rheims was expressed.

The British command, General March stated, has been awaiting for the German offensive against the British front without complete explanation of its postscript. Vast German forces, quantities of supplies, including reserves, are known to have been placed in readiness for a new offensive against the British front.

NEWARK BOY WAS ABOARD CRUISER WHICH WAS SUNK

(Associated Press Telegram)

A Newark boy was on board the United States cruiser, San Diego, which went down off the New York coast yesterday. Hoke Smith, son of Walter Smith, 136 Western avenue, who enlisted in this city about two months ago, and who was stationed in Norfolk, Va., had just been assigned to the cruiser.

Hoke Smith, who was not 21 years, when he enlisted, was born in this city, but had been working in Atlanta, Ga., in the postoffice. He came to Newark to visit his father and while here enlisted and was sent to Wheeling for examination, and later to Norfolk, Va., for training.

His father received a letter last week saying he had been assigned the United States cruiser, San Diego, and that he would leave for a trip soon. Last night another letter was received which had been written aboard the San Diego. The letter had probably been sent but a short time before the disaster took place.

No word as to his safety has been received by his father.

MOVIE ACTORS MAY COME WITHIN THE "WORK OR FIGHT"

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, July 20.—Gradual extension of the "work-or-fight" policy to new occupations just as with the progress of the war the list of non-essential industries has been lengthened was seen today in the decision of Secretary Baker holding baseball to be a non-productive occupation. In interpreting the order, the secretary intimated that the regulations soon may be changed to include theatrical performers and motion-picture players and employees. Whether additional changes are contemplated, no statement was forthcoming, but it was generally believed that gradually the lines would be drawn tighter.

The decision as to baseball was given on an appeal in the case of Eddie Ainsmith, Washington American league club catcher, whose deferred classification on account of dependents was revoked by his local draft board. All contentions of baseball men including the argument as to the recreational necessity of baseball were held invalid by Secretary Baker in interpreting the order.

The Submarine is Centuries Old

On Sale at all Goodrich Branches and Depots

CONTRARY to common belief, seacraft traveled under water at least 300 years, and probably 3000, before John Holland's submarine.

James I., in 1621, took a submarine trip several miles long, in a submarine invented by Cornelius Van Drebbel. Van Drebbel's craft was a true navigating submersible, made water-tight by greased leather, and propelled by twelve oarsmen, who rowed with oars fitted through water-tight holes in the hull.

Though the submarine in its development has appeared in a hundred fantastic forms, the automobile tire has matched it in freakish inventions.

Goodrich's clear-sighted direction was needed to hold it to principles of usefulness, and produce—

GOODRICH SERVICE VALUE TIRES

Goodrich loyalty to practical service was logical, for Goodrich values tires solely by SERVICE VALUE.

Goodrich judges tires solely by what they do for you on your car and on the road in easy riding, economy, dependability and durability.

Therefore, Goodrich, in the twenty-two years it has directed the destinies of automobile tires, has worked and watched to put SERVICE VALUE into its tires, SILVERTOWN CORDS or BLACK SAFETY TREADS, and to keep it there.

SERVICE VALUE in tires is in harmony with the thrifty spirit of the times. Be thrifty by demanding Goodrich Service Value Tires.

One of the snuggest dramas ever seen on the screen is "Up Romance Road" with Russell's latest vehicle. It is a Mutual play from Russell's studio. The story is intensely interesting. Mr. Russell being cast as a rich young man for whom everything has been made too easy all his life and who is now determined to get action even if he has to go out running for it. Gregory, whom Mr. Russell impersonates, finds himself engaged to the approval of the parents on both sides. This strikes him as being a family feud in some way so that he may overcome all obstacles and win a wife may-fash after a fight for her. When Gregory goes looking for trouble he gets it in bunches. In the course of his brief career as trouble seeker he runs into a nest of German spies, captures the ringleader, prevents an explosion and eventually decides to settle down with the rich young bride style with the young lady's papa. Monday and Tuesday.
Madge Kennedy is beginning to feel that she lives in a perpetual atmosphere of hills of the air, rudding down, orchids and ringing bells, for she is being married—without a trip camp at this northerly point and there a crew of workmen as well as a big company of actors has gone to film exterior in the very heart of primeval forests which are being dedicated to supply the country with lumber for houses and ships.

George Beban himself is sponsor for the statement that his one aim and desire since he entered motion pictures is to give the public plays that are distinctly different and to portray characters that are colorful, big, vital, wholesome and clean. Such a play and such a role is to be found in "Tales of the Strong Heart." Last showings today.

Sunday's Bill.
A real real comedy of the highest class is "Ladies First," the new Paramount-Mach Sennett mirth provoker which is now view at the Auditorium. The comedy is chock full of interesting situations, every one of which provokes laughter. The chief players are Chester Conklin, Mary Thurman and Harry Gribbon. This comedy is seen together with "Sirens of the Sea" at the Auditorium Sunday and Monday.

Alice Brady, well known film star, who is seen in the Select picture, "Woman and Wife." The new and latest Hearst-Pathe News is also shown.

MARGUERITE CLARK LITTLE EVA

YOU may have heard of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" perhaps, but not of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in motion pictures, for that is something new. In its latest form the immortal story enables two stars of the first magnitude to add new triumphs to her record. Note that a pronoun in the singular number here agrees with a plural antecedent, the grammar to the contrary notwithstanding, for both stars are the one and only Marguerite Clark, the Paramount favorite, whom the versatility of the camera enables to play the two roles of Little Eva and Topsy, appearing on the screen simultaneously.

va, who will come to the Auditorium on next Wednesday. This should be one of the biggest events in the annals of the picture room in Newark and great credit should be given the Licking County War Savings committee for arranging for this celebrated actress to appear in our city. This is perhaps the first appearance of any real picture artist in Newark and no doubt all comfortable theatre to hear Petrova talk on War Savings.

Miss Easter Will Sing.
In connection with an elaborate program arranged for Sunday amusement at the Auditorium, Manager Fenberg has through a personal acquaintance, been able to secure Miss Gladys Easter, a singer of note, who for years has appeared in all of the greater New York musical successes for Klaw and Erlanger. The young lady is an extra and was prevailed upon to stop off for the day. She will sing several new and popular songs to give government troops right of way over everything. The leads of the great Coop and Lent Circus, which comes to Newark Thursday, July 25th, conceived the idea of placing their built motor trucks thus removing the possible chance of failure in reaching advertised dates, and at the same time conserving of locomotive power. The railroads will not be asked to transport the mighty circus from city to city, but instead the greatest of all tented enterprises will be transported on 96 high powered monster auto trucks. Many of the big circuses "cut out" parade paraphernalia, and eliminated cages of wild animals, in order to conserve on railroad facilities and to conserve on money. The Coop and Lent's spectacular three ring circus, museum, and menagerie. The lady is an extra and was prevailed upon to stop off for the day. She will sing several new and popular songs to Reno or a husband in the cemetery about every six weeks. Motion pictures are the cause. After playing the part of a bride in "Baby Mine" and "Nearly Married" she is called on to do tricks with orange blossoms again in the Goldwyn picture of Avery Hopwood's play, "Our Little Wife."

GEM.
Sunday.
Theda Bara, 1918 version of "The Two Orphans" is to be the big attraction at the Gem theatre Sunday. The story of "The Two Orphans" is known to everyone. In its new form it is even more thrilling and will win the applause of millions of motion picture goers. Miss Bara has never failed to give splendid entertainment. In "The Two Orphans" she plays the part of a girl who is not of the vampire type, and she establishes for herself a separate place in pictures. In this picture her versatility is shown to a remarkable degree. It is one of the many reasons why she has a big place in the hearts of picture fans. The "Two Orphans" has been re-made and retitled by Mr. Fox and is far snappier than when it was first released.

AUDITORIUM.
Tonight.
The ring of the woodman's axe, the hissing of the great logs as they slip down the gigantic chutes, the grinding of machinery with whose sounds were created into lumber—these sounds will ring in the ears of the players under Donald Crisp who are at Hockland, Washington, make the Paramount picture starring George Beban, "Tales of the Strong Heart," now at Auditorium. As recently announced a studio has been constructed in the Licking lumber mortal masterpiece, "Jane Eyre," will be the feature attraction at the Auditorium theatre Monday and Tuesday. In this story, beloved by millions of readers in every land, Miss Brady's inter-nationals of the luckless heroine adds new laurels to a crown already rich in worthy achievements.

The story opens with Jane Eyre, a young girl living with rich relatives—Mrs. Reed, her son John. Jane unfortunately happens to be reading a book the boy of the household and she only a position ruled by the cruel Mr. Brocklehurst. She is introduced there as a so-called "poor" girl, but her true character is soon discovered and she is loved by all. Meanwhile, Edward Rochester, the leading male character, played by the popular Elliott, is a spoiled master in love with Valerie (Leonora Morgan), a mania, which her brother Raoul keeps from him, he marries her. After a child is born to her, Rochester learns the truth when Valerie becomes insane. This feature, together with The Mack Sennett comedy, "Ladies First," also the Hearst-Pathe News, make a program that should please all movie fans.

Mme. Petrova.
"A Daughter of Destiny" is the title of Madame Petrova's latest feature picture, to be distributed by The First National Exhibitors' Circuit. It will be shown at the Auditorium Wednesday and Thursday of next week and it is said to represent the most effective work that the beautiful Polish actress has ever contributed to the silent drama. Mrs. Petrova has arranged for this feature to be shown together with the personal appearance of Mme. Petrova.

Charles Ray, Film Idol and Clever Draughtsman

CHARLES RAY SKETCHING PLANS FOR STUDIO "SET."

Few of the many thousand admirers of handsome Charles Ray, the talented lace star in Paramount pictures, know that this motion picture idol is a clever draughtsman. Ray started his career as a draughtsman after spending several years studying for this kind of work at a Los Angeles college. One of his most notable achievements in this line are the plans for his father's home in California, which always attracts the admiration of passersby.

Ray's knowledge of architectural draughting makes him of added value around the motion picture studio, where his suggestions as to interior decoration of "sets" are always welcomed. When he is not appearing before the camera the popular young star may most always be located in the architect's room working out some new idea. His most notable achievements in this direction are said to be presented in his new Paramount picture, "The Claws of the Hun," which allows particularly for novel settings.

hits. This is a treat for Auditorium picture fans and we know will be greatly appreciated.

LYRIC.
Today a Mutual Chaplin Special, in two parts, "The Circus." This is one of the best pictures, and as an extra feature we have Uncle Sam's Defenders showing our boys on land and sea. A comedy drama in two reels with Shorty Hamilton. "Shorty Buys the Bullion Thieves" in this picture Mr. Hamilton does some of his best work and the picture is in two parts and is bound to please everyone.

On Sunday will be shown the first pictures of the Pathe Co. in five parts, featuring Frederick Ward in "The Heart of Ezra Greer" and showing Ward in some of his best work, and it will please every one who comes to the Lyric Sunday. Also, the Universal serial with Eddie Egan, "The 15th episode of the 'Bull's Eye'." The more you see this serial the better you will like it. It is one of the best pictures ever made. Taking it all in all this is one of the best programs the Lyric has had in a long time.

They met head-on in a turn on a lonely country road and both cars stopped with a splintering of glass, in the Triangle. Grand theatre Sunday and Monday. Grand theatre Sunday and Monday. This was Betty Marshall's introduction to James Bartlett, multi-millionaire politician, and the man who had once been her father's partner in a mining venture. Now Betty's father was poor, while Bartlett was rolling in money. Betty Marshall had vowed to marry him. Both machines were permanently disabled in an attempt to get them back on the road. It was fast becoming dark and they were thirty miles from help.

After Bartlett had sent his chauffeur for help, Betty, without disclosing the situation and a never-to-be-forgotten night followed for the pair in a mountain canyon. The child's resourcefulness won the heart of the old millionaire and he ended by offering her $50,000 to marry his son Tom, who had been recently run more shrewdly than did his father, and the big surprise of this Triangle comedy drama was how Betty's brains won the husband of her choice in spite of unusual obstacles. How she patched up a feud of years standing between her father and Bartlett from a cool half million, all on the strength of some delicious chicken fried over a hot fire, made this story a regular Triangle winner.

A PATRIOTIC DUTY.

CITY MAN ON FARM.

It would be interesting to know if the successful business men who buy farms and operate them, can make the thing pay. With many it is taken up as a mere fad and plaything, appealing to their love of country life. Some one remarked that the principal qualification to be a gentleman farmer, is the ability to stand the expense. This recalls the difference between a farmer and an agriculturist as defined the other day by a well known Newark man. He said that a farmer is a man who makes his money on the farm and spends it in town and an agriculturist is a man who makes his money in town and spends it on the farm.

The hard working native who watches one of these fancy farmers giving his orders from the cushioned seat of an automobile, regards his undertakings with some derision. Yet the rural wiseacre may be surprised to find the results a good business man can get out of a farm property. He at least knows enough to keep careful accounts. A crop that doesn't pay is soon cut out.

No one of course can make a farm pay unless he either is able to take hold and direct it capably himself, or hire a competent foreman. The latter course involves an expense so large that the farm must turn out a large product to cover overhead expense.

A very considerable public benefit can be conferred by these men of wide experience who have gone out into the country for all or a part of the year. If they hold themselves aloof and merely set an example of extravagance and display, they are of no use to the community. But as is so frequently the case, if they identify themselves with local objects, their assistance is of great value.

Their handsomely kept properties are an inspiration to every one of the neighbors to clean up and remove disorder. If they can demonstrate that farming run strictly as a business proposition can be made to pay as well as other enterprises requiring equal capital, they do a great deal to make food raising seem attractive.

The latest observation item is that the tramp element have agreed to have soapless days. Also the boys have agreed to conserve the water supply by dispensing with Saturday night baths.

It seems to the boys an awful waste of good material to make tomatos into soup, when they could be used to plug those pesky fellows in the next yard.

The politicians admit they are not consistent, as they don't dare enter the fall campaign without trying out what politics bring the most applause.

The people who can't buy War Savings Stamps are often the same ones to throw away a perfectly good suit because it is a bit out of style.

The question is asked what will become of the slacker after the war? Well, kind people may give some of them jobs sweeping floors.

Some of the people in the munition towns who are getting $25.00 for renting a room, wonder why the war costs so much.

There is no objection to three-cent postage among people that receive each month a large number of bills.

THE GERMAN DOCKS

The taking over by the United States of the title and possession of the docks, piers, wharves and other shipping property on the Hudson river, owned by the German steamship companies, the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg corporations, is greeted with universal approval by the American people. The property is to be retained by the government and not turned back to its former owners at the close of the war.

Purchasers of Liberty Loan Bonds and War Savings Stamps, who supply the money used for this purpose, may feel especial gratification. These docks and piers and wharves are strategic points of great importance and value, and it is intolerable that they should remain in enemy hands, or that they should ever revert to German ownership. German commerce has been shown to have been so indissolubly bound up with, and so much a part of German militarism, that it is just and right that it should suffer all the penalties of war.

Some people who claim there is no money in raising a garden are often the same ones whose lack of outdoor exercise results in doctor's calls at $2.00 per.

SENATORIAL CONVERTS.

(Philadelphia Record)
Attention was recently called in these columns to the very interesting and gratifying statement made by John D. Ryan, in charge of aircraft production, concerning the splendid progress being made in the manufacture of airplanes and in their shipment to Europe. This would seem authoritative to most persons, but despite its some curious assertions have been made, apparently emanating from the senate committee on military affairs, purporting to show that everything was still in the doldrums and that little headway was being made. Our wise senators, being their heads over the state of affairs, so different from the way they would manage matters.

And now, wonder of wonders! The senators themselves have been converted. So at least we learn from The New York Sun, whose Washington correspondent prints the glad news that "the production of aircraft—planes, engines and equipment—has reached a stage of real encouragement to the nation, and wholesome optimism as to the future is at last justified, according to the information obtained by the special aircraft subcommittee of the senate committee on military affairs. The improvement became noticeable in the last month and is proceeding on an accelerated scale." The Liberty motor is pronounced a great success by these senatorial wiseacres, who, of course, being mostly lawyers and politicians, are thoroughly competent to pass judgment upon such a complicated bit of mechanism. The correspondent adds:

"The production of one type of heavy bombing planes, the committee has ascertained, has now reached the satisfactory total of 75 a week. By the first weeks of September it is believed the production will have attained the total of 100 a week. This is quantity production, according to the senate committee."

In the meantime, Charles Evans Hughes is continuing his investigation of aircraft production. When his report appears the American people will have the final word on the whole subject. It will doubtless be brought out that while many mistakes have been made and there have been some irritating delays, these must be regarded as inevitable in view of the magnitude of the task attempted.

POTASH AND PEACE.

(New York Times.)
Whenever the German people complain about a new reduction of food rations, learned persons from the universities assure them that their foes are suffering for lack of German potash. Dark pictures are drawn of agriculture in this country, and elsewhere, restrained by the withdrawal of this fertilizer, and it is asserted that Americans will not code almost anything at the peace conference if they can get potash for their barren fields. This time it is Prof. Roth who seeks thus to encourage the hungry.

Of course he knows, as many of them do not, that there is no warrant for what he says. The answer to all these misleading assertions is given by crop reports. In this country agriculture has not languished for lack of German's potash. For this year's harvest our farmers, increased by more than 20,000,000 acres the areas cultivated for the leading food products. Crops of corn, barley, rye and rice are the largest ever known. There will be 240,000,000 bushels more of wheat than were harvested last year, with a surplus of nearly 400,000,000, which our war partners can have. These great yields have been obtained without the help of German potash. Canada, having no such aid, has increased her wheat crop from 232,000,000 to 340,000,000 bushels and there have been abundant harvests in other countries from which Germany's foes draw supplies.

It has been shown that our farmers can do very well without the potash from Germany. And we are beginning to supply from our own territory what may be needed. We have American potash from kelp and as a by-product of certain industries. It is coming from the waters of a western lake where very great quantities are held in solution. After the war we shall not need Germany's potash, dvestuffs or chemicals. Potash, which Prof. Roth calls Germany's trump card for the peace negotiations, will have no weight at the conference table.

That motion-picture theaters are well patronized throughout Greece and Italy? In Athens there are four modern establishments, more than half a dozen others charging popular prices, and about ten open-air theaters. In the provinces of old and new Greece there are about 125 cinemas. The Italians are great supporters of motion-picture shows, though only about 230 out of the 2500 in Italy are in the Florence consular district. There is only one cinematograph theater in Teheran.

GERMAN WAR LOANS.

(Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.)
One great mystery of the war has been and is, how Germany, "living off herself" for four years, is able to keep up. The will of her people to continue resistance is not beyond comprehension; how they can command the material necessities essential to support of that will is the puzzle. At times we are disposed to doubt the stories which come to us, and which reason tells us must be true, of the physical decline of those under-nourished people. The successive war loans floated by the Berlin government have been astonishing in the aggregate amount of subscriptions reported in spite of the well-established fact that the country is practically on a flat money basis. Apparently war loans are as popular now as they were in the earlier days of the strife when the outcome was much more rosy for Germany than it is today. But a careful analysis of subscriptions to these issues made at Zurich, Switzerland, indicates a steady decline in their popularity. This may be due to less fervor for the war or to subverted ability of the people to contribute. But the figures point indubitably to a condition that must cause the war lords grave concern, and the people as well.

According to the analysis made, the very small subscribers, those taking 200 marks or less of the war loans, the people to whom subscriptions mean actual sacrifice, are steadily declining in numbers, whether from disinclination or incapacity it is not possible to say positively. In the spring of 1917 these people took 2.2 per cent of the total issue; in the spring of 1918 3.801.571 of them took 1.8 per cent of the offering. Persons subscribing more than 200 and less than 2,000 marks in spring of 1918 took 1,944,800.000 marks of 13-14 per cent of the total. A year previously they had taken 17.13 per cent, while in the spring of 1916 their subscriptions represented 20.36 per cent of the issue. The percentage of subscribers in amounts from 2,000 to 20,000 marks decreased from 22.9 in the spring of 1917 to 20.5 this last spring. But the nabobs, those subscribing for more than 100,000 marks, have taken increasingly large proportions of each successive issue. In the spring of 1917 they took 41.7 of the eighth, 47.7. Evidently the rich are getting richer and the poor poorer in Germany as a direct result of the war. Which may have some bearing on the moral significance that may properly be attributed to the analysis from which we have quoted.

RUNNING OVER.
(By O. C. Larsson.)
Our country's running over With cotton, hay and cane, With garden truck and sunshine And warm and gentle rain. Our country's running over With wheat and corn and rye, Providence is smiling on it, With blessings from on high.

Our country's running over With loyalty, sea deep, And patriotism rolling on. With one tremendous sweep: But it's doubly running over, Who are sacrificing all things, For God, country and friend.

Our country's running over With war stamps, bonds and cleft. Millions gladly working Each one to do his best. The Red Cross and a score of other worthy means, Are marching grandly onward, In countless human streams.

Our seas are running over With vessels freighted down, With noblest men of earth That anywhere can be found. They're on the fields of France For democracy or die, "On to Berlin," they're shouting, Old Glory waving high.

They'll soon be running over The land of the Kaiser and his. Tramping down the very walls Of blood-guilt Berlin. Then trees shall sap their hands, And hills sing victory at end, All heaven resounds the echo, Eternal peace for all. Amen.

were not looking they would bite at it like a fish going after a worm. Each man carried five loaves.

When they got in the barracks the sentries made them put the bread down on the floor, and then, with their bayonets, the sentries cut each loaf once down the center lengthwise and four times across, which meant ten men to a loaf about the size of an ordinary ten-cent loaf in this country now. They gave each of us a piece a little larger than a safety-match box.

The bread was hard and dark, and I really think they made it from trees. It had just exactly the same smell that the dirt around trees has.

We filed past the sentries single file to get our ration of this mud, and there was no chance of getting in line twice, for we had to keep on filing until we were out in the road, and stand there in the snow to eat it. We could not go back in the barracks until every man had been served.

Our meals were like this: A can of barley coffee in the morning; cabbage soup, so called, at noon; a tenth of a loaf of bread at 3 p. m. That was our menu day in and day out, the Kaiser's birthday, Lincoln's, May day, or any other time.

This cabbage soup was a great idea. We called it shadow soup, because the boys claimed they made it by hanging a cabbage over a barrel of water and letting the shadow fall on the water. We pretended, too, that if you found any cabbage in it, you could take your dish back for a second helping. But I never saw anybody get more than one dishful. All it was, was just spoiled water.

We tried to go to sleep that night, but there were so many sentries around us—and those of us who were not sick were wounded—that I do not think a man of us really slept. After a while I asked a sentry if I could go outside for a minute, but for some reason he would not let me. I had different ideas about it, so I stood around near the door, and when he turned his back out I went and around the corner of the barracks.

But one of the sentries there saw me and blew his whistle, and a guard of eight came up from somewhere and grabbed me. I tried to explain, but it was no use, because every time I said a word it meant another swat over the ear, so finally I gave it up.

Then they drilled me across the road to the officers' quarters. There were three officers there, and each of them asked me questions about all kinds of things, but never once mentioned my running out of the barracks. Then they gave the sentries some commands, and four of the sentries took me out and over to the barbed wire fence. There they tied me, face to the fence, arms over my head, and hands and feet lashed to the wire, and with a rope around my waist, too. I thought, then, that my hunch had come true, and that I would be crucified, like Murray and Brown.

They posted a sentry there in addition to the regular guards, and every time he walked past me he would kick me or spit on me, or do both.

One time he kicked me so hard that a prong of the barbed wire gashed me over the left eye—the only one I can see with—and when the blood ran into my eye it blinded me. I thought both eyes were gone then, and I hoped they would shoot me. It seemed to me that I had got my share by this time without losing the other eye, and if it was gone, I wanted to go too.

I could not put up my hand to feel where the prong had jabbed me, and it kept on bleeding and smarting. I had on practically no clothing, you remember. The wounds in my thigh had opened, and it was bitter cold and windy. So you can picture to yourself how gay and carefree I was.

When I had been there for an hour and a half they untied me from the wire, and I keeled over on my back. They kicked me until I had to stand up, but I fell down again, and all the kicking in Germany could not have brought me to my feet. I was just all made of cigarette papers, a skull cap and a pair of shoes, which were a day's labor to carry around. Not one of us received socks, shirts or underwear.

The toe was cut from the right shoe of the pair I received, and as my wounds were in the right thigh and my leg had stiffened up considerably and got very sore, I got pretty anxious, because there was nothing but slush underfoot, and I was afraid I might lose my leg. So I thought that if I went to the commander and made a kick I might get a good shoe. I hesitated about it at first, but finally made up my mind and went to see him.

I told him that it was slushy outside, and that the water ran through the hole in my shoe and made it bad for my whole leg, which was wounded. He examined the shoe, and looked at the open toe for some time, and I thought he was going to put up an argument, but would give in finally.

Then he asked me what I wanted. I thought that was plain enough to see, but I said just as easily as I could that I wanted a shoe without a hole in the toe.

"So the water runs into it, does it?" he said. "Well, my advice to you is to get a knife, cut a hole in the heel and let the water out." All the other swine in the room laughed very loud at this, and I guess this Fritz thought he was a great comedian. But somehow or other, it did not strike me so funny that I just had to laugh, and I was able, after quite a struggle, to keep from even snickering. It was a harder struggle than that to keep from doing something else, though!

Our meals were just about the same as at Swinemunde—the bread was just as muddy, the barley coffee just as rank, and the soup just as cabbageless. The second morning after we had had our barley coffee one of the sentries came to our barracks, which was number 7-B, and gave each of us an envelope and a sheet of writing paper. Then he told us to write to anybody we wanted to, after which he chalked on the door in big letters: KRIEGSGEFANGENENLAGER and told us it was the return address. We were all surprised, and asked each other where we were, because we had thought we were in Neustrelitz. After a while, we learned that it meant "Prisoner-of-War-Camp." At first, though, many of us thought it was the name of the town, and we got to calling it the Brewery, because the name ended in lager. Whatever beer was brewed there was not for us though.

SURVIVORS OF SAN DIEGO

ored cruiser, San Diego, sunk yesterday off Long Island, reported to the navy department today his belief that the ship was torpedoed in spite of the absence of any positive evidence of the presence of an enemy submarine.

The department still is without information as to whether there was loss of life, though it is known that nearly all of the officers and men of the crew have been landed by rescue steamers.

There was no disorder on the cruiser, the captain said, every man taking his station as in ordinary drill.

The dispatch follows:
"The captain of the San Diego reports that he is inclined to the belief that the ship was sunk by torpedo. There are no conclusive factors, however, on which to base a definite opinion at present, in view of following circumstances:
"1.—No torpedo wake was seen.
"2.—No convincing evidence that periscope was seen.
"3.—No submarine appeared in spite of the fact that three unarmed rescue ships were in the vicinity for about two hours.
"4.—Ship was struck on portside abaft beam, which discourages mine theory.
"5.—Weather was fine; smooth sea."

The San Diego was struck on the port side abaft the beam. This is held to discourage the mine theory, since an explosion from this source would have occurred near the bow.

Officials here are certain that some small loss of life will be found when the muster rolls of the ship have been checked against the list of survivors. The San Diego's muster rolls were lost but a duplicate set is being sent to Washington.

That there was little if any loss of life is indicated by the fact that the ship was abandoned in good order, all hands remaining at their posts until ordered to take to the boats.

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, July 20.—All the survivors of the Cruiser San Diego, said to number over 1100 have arrived in New York. They were brought in during the night on rescuing ships from the scene of the destruction of the cruiser which was sunk yesterday off Fire Island, just east of New York.

According to the commander of one of the rescuing ships which brought in some 500 of the crew, the survivors were of the opinion that the San Diego was torpedoed. Some of the survivors were reported to have been debarked at Hoboken and transferred to tugs which took them to the navy yard in Brooklyn. Others were transferred to tugs down the harbor and also brought to the navy yard, it was said.

Official information at the navy yard and the Hoboken docks was refused and no civilians were allowed access to the survivors. Whether there was loss of life was yet unknown this afternoon and many inquiries received at newspaper offices from relatives and friends of those supposed to be on board the cruiser could not be answered.

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, July 20.—Positive information as to the cause of the sinking of the United States armored cruiser, San Diego, off Fire Island yesterday forenoon, as well as the loss of life, if any, was lacking here today.

Thirty-one sailors, who were landed at Point o' Woods on Long Island yesterday, said that a torpedo had struck the warship amidships, following which two other explosions occurred. Other survivors, among 300 who arrived at this port on a tanker last night, were reported to have said that either a coast defense mine or an internal explosion caused the explosions. Other steamships, with survivors aboard, were expected to arrive at New York or other nearby ports during the day.

Some of the survivors who were landed at Point o' Woods were sure that a submarine had been seen, and one declared that a shot had gone home and destroyed the undersea craft, but an officer and most of the other sailors were confident that no submarine had been seen.

Varying statements have been made as to the loss of life. Some of the sailors said that many were killed and others hurt in the two explosions, but that all who escaped death or injuries by this cause had been rescued.

The sailors landed from the tanker later were taken to the Brooklyn navy yard where requests for information were referred to the navy department at Washington. Within a few seconds after the first explosion, the cruiser, according to the sailors, opened fire with several guns at objects which were taken for periscopes.

The cruiser sank rapidly and disappeared 15 minutes after the first explosion. It went down so rapidly, according to survivors, that hundreds of the crew did not have time to get to boats and were forced to plunge over the rail into the water, where they clung to improvised rafts until picked up by lifeboats. All agreed that the discipline on board the warship was magnificent and worthy of the best traditions of the navy.

The quartermaster, according to survivors, remained at his post until it was too late to save himself or his comrades as he went down with the ship. A jackie climbed the mast and rescued the cruiser's colors. The flag, carefully preserved, was brought ashore in one of the small boats at Point o' Woods.

Immediately after the accident great naval activity was observable, which seemed to strengthen the report that the San Diego had been the victim of an attack by a U-boat. Destroyers, patrolboats and airplanes were reported to be taking part in what seemed to be a search for undersea craft. Sounds of heavy firing at sea were heard by residents at various points on Long Island last night.

Reports were in circulation that other ships had been attacked, but there has been no verification of these reports.

NAVY DEPARTMENT AWAITS MORE DETAILED REPORTS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, July 20.—Navy department officials today awaited more detailed reports of the sinking yesterday of the United States armored cruiser, San Diego, off the Long Island coast, near the entrance to New York harbor. Two facts were to be established: the cause of the vessel's destruction and the number of men lost, if any. Reports received at an early hour today contained few details, and in the meantime officials refused to venture an opinion as to the possibility of the vessel having been a victim of German submarines.

In many quarters there was a feeling that the cruiser was sunk by a drifting mine or by an internal explosion, despite reported statements of survivors that what appeared to be a periscope was sighted. On the other hand, many officials were inclined to think that German submarines have again crossed the Atlantic and becoming bolder have been lying in wait off New York harbor for a richer prize than the freight and tank steamers sunk during the previous visit here in May and June.

In formation received by the navy department early today that two steamships were en route to port with 1155 survivors of the San Diego aboard, was taken to indicate that the number of lives lost would be small, if any. The landing of 31 survivors had previously been reported, which would account for the safety of 1187. The cruiser is not considered to have had more than that number of men aboard when she left the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard for New York.

It was reiterated today that the military loss in the sinking of the San Diego was small, the cruiser being one of a comparatively old type, having been built in 1899. However, the San Diego was the first major warship to be lost since the United States entered the war.

CZECHO-SLOVAKS HOLD PORTION OF SIBERIAN RAILWAY

(Associated Press Telegram)
Vladivostok, Monday, July 15.—The present situation in Siberia may be described as transitional form the Bolshevik regime to conditions not yet permitting of accurate diagnosis. The military situation is as follows:

Forty thousand Czecho-Slovaks hold the trans-Siberian railroad between Samara and Irkutsk, detachments occupying Tcheliabinsk, Omsk, Novo Nikolievsk, Tomsk and Krasnoyarsk.

The Czecho-Slovak national council at Vladivostok assumes that the Czechs co-operating with local bodies have overthrown the Bolsheviks in the aforesaid places but details are not available owing to the total interruption of all communication with the interior. It is presumed that the Czechs are moving eastward in the direction of Irkutsk as their rear is secured. It is estimated that 500,000 war prisoners are distributed throughout Siberia, of whom 35,000 have voluntarily joined the Red Guards or because engaged in German political propaganda. This number may be augmented as the Bolsheviks have forcibly recruited war prisoners. This factor may create conditions inimical to the advance of the Czechs.

Of the 14,000 Czechs who reached Vladivostok, 12,000 are engaged in active military operations against the Bolsheviks at Khabarovsk. The Czechs today occupied Spasskaia after overcoming stubborn resistance. Bolshevik agitators are trying to arouse the villagers against the Czechs.

Having assumed responsibility for order here, the Czechs have maintained quiet in Vladivostok. They do not support the self styled Siberian government and do not take offers of assistance from Russian factions opposed to the Bolsheviks. It is believed that the Red Guard movements are directed by officers of the Central Powers. Many Magyars troops are fighting with the Bolsheviks.

Our Boys and Girls

For the woman who can sew, the best investment she can possibly make of her time is to buy one piece of smooth fine English nainsook or long cloth and herself cut out and make the six little slips her coming baby will need. The simple well known Bishop pattern is probably the best. This style of dress is gathered at the neck and sleeves into little bands of narrow, or broderie or heading and is finished off with a lace edge.

The whole should cost but 50 cents for each garment, and it neatly made, she has a dress that would cost three or four dollars to buy all made. These six slips will do for all night and day and will be enough, although it is well to have a best dress for the baptism and for the showing off which every baby must endure. One white petticoat for this best dress is as the slips are worn directly over the flannel skirt.

Every Day Etiquette

"Is it proper for a lady to stand when being presented to a gentleman, and should she extend her hand in greeting?" asked Mabel.

"She need not rise unless the man is a good deal older than she, and she extends her hand first, unless it is a young man, when she merely bows," said her aunt.

There is more than one way of doing a thing. Any man can attract attention by making a nuisance of himself.

Mothering Our Boys Over There

MRS. BELMONT TIFFANY

Mrs. Belmont Tiffany, now in France with the American Red Cross, has been working twelve and fourteen hours a day in camp service with the men of the American and French forces.

"War is such an ugly thing, such a dirty, sordid thing," she said, "that at least we should give our men warmth and cleanliness and color wherever we can. Picture to yourself fifty dirty, tired men falling out of a cattle train where they have been cooped up two or three days with a detachment of mules, eating and sleeping with them. They have a couple of hours to wait, so they take a hot bath at the R. C. canteen with plenty of soap and towels given to them and then have a good meal, waited on by such cheerful, kindly American girls, and after playing the piano a bit and writing a letter home they depart. Those people who have given the money to do this work with would be so very grateful if they could only see."

"In the anteen proper the girls in their blue and white uniforms look so nice and the food is so good. You can't think what it means to the men. The first night we opened at D. we had 489 men at one o'clock. They ate us out of house and home though it seemed a strange hour to eat. They carried off every magazine and paper we had; they drank coffee and cocoa and milk; they ate butter, jam and cakes and chocolate; their officers were fed too and finally the major came and shook my hand over and over again and said they were all happier and less homesick than any time since they'd left America."

GRANVILLE

(Special to Advocate.)

Granville, O., July 20.—As the time draws near for the Granville assembly and chataqua to materialize, the question is frequently heard: "What attractions are being offered? Who, what when?" In addition to the admirable planned assembly features for the forenoon and afternoon sessions, mention of which has been made, the evening will be devoted to a series of attractive and profitable lectures, concerts and miscellaneous programs. The lectures are from the best talent that can be secured—Dr. Lincoln Hulley, Dr. F. A. Agar, and Dr. Roliv Harlan, who, under the subjects: "Riley and the Home-Folks," "An Irishman Aboard," and the "American Spirit and the World-War," will have messages that are worth while. High-grade concerts will be given by such companies as The Chataqua Preachers' Quartet, The Zedeler Symphony Quintet and The Metropolitan Grand Quartet, which have been on the platform for years, and whose audiences are always enthusiastic over their work. Denison university talent will account for one evening, and the spirit of patriotism which runs high these days, will find an outlet in the great moving picture entertainment, "Wake Up, America," by J. F. Keating, one of the most striking appeals growing out of the war. To be shown in the opera-house August 8.

There are three big cantonments in the United States where for the next two months college students and faculty members will receive intensive military training, which they will be expected to pass on to the students in their respective institutions, during the ensuing year. The proportion is one student in every 25, and one faculty member for every 250 students. Denison has sent Prof. W. L. Livingston, her brilliant athletic director, and Prof. Louis Ramsey, with 12 students, whose names were not submitted. This quota will be at Fort Sheridan, Ill., from July 18 to September 15. Instead of the regular army officer stationed in each college, Prof. Livingston will have had sufficient military drill to qualify him for this position in Denison, as he has spent much time already in intensive work.

Mrs. Fannie L. Perry of Delaware, is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Laramore, whose condition does not improve.

Seventy-one men are listed in call No. 357, for the Licking county board, and will report this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Mayor Coons' office for induction into military service. They will report again on Monday, July 22, at 10 o'clock in the morning and will entrain for Camp Sherman from Newark at the usual hour. This call is composed almost entirely of farmers who have been placed in class No. 1 by the district board at Columbus. They were omitted from calls for April, May and June, in accordance with instructions issued by Provost Marshal General Crowder. Among those to go from Granville are: Zennie Hottinger, Virgil Oscar Hill, George Hottinger, Claud C. Willard, Lawton L. Smith, Thomas W. Davis, Brown Kasson, Penn Johnson, David T. Crawford and James Huxches.

H. L. Pierce, secretary-treasurer of the committee for the Granville Fourth of July celebration, submitted the following excellent report this week, of the receipts and disbursements of funds: Receipts, balance from last year, $27.48; popular subscription, 315; received from stands, $296.33; received from student committee, $102; received from foot-race, $22.90—total, $762.71.

Disbursements: Prizes 57; carnival expense, $43.42; printing, $12.28; music, 216.75; picnic dinner, $10.25; supplies for stands, 177.18; E. F. W. donation, 100; King's Daughters' donation, 100; balance in treasury, $56.83—total, $773.71.

Mrs. Howard L. Williams, who is so gallantly carrying on the work of the farm during the absence in the army of her husband, Dr. H. L. Williams, and her son, Howard Lee, Jr., has just received word of the promotion of the doctor, who is still at Ft. Reno, Oklahoma. He is now First Lieutenant H. L. Williams, V. C. N. A.

Word has been received that Lynn Atwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Atwell, has landed safely somewhere overseas. He belongs to Battery E, 135th F. A.

Services at the Presbyterian church will be conducted on Sunday by Rev. U. S. Bartz of Fremont. Morning worship at 10 o'clock; evening union services in this house at 7 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

St. Luke's church, Sunday, July 21, at 10 a. m., morning prayer and holy communion. Rev. Mr. Randolph.

Preaching services at the Methodist church at 10 a. m., with sermon by the pastor, Rev. B. F. Crawford.

At the First Baptist church: Morning worship with sermon by Rev. Judson Tuttle. The pastor, Dr. Breisford, will preach tomorrow at the First Baptist church, Cleveland.

POLICE COURT.

Proper names beginning with the letter "S" were in disrepute in police court this morning, for the first five offenders had proper names beginning with that letter. There were three members of one family, the father and two sons, one other on intoxication charges, while the fourth was arrested on a peace warrant.

The Preserving of Youth.
The natural tendency is for the body to gain weight when a woman advances in years, and if you aim to retain the youthful figure of your young days you must exercise and exercise more than you ever have before. Superfluous flesh is apt to collect about the waist, hips and abdomen when one goes old, and this always means goodby to grace, youth and beauty.

The minute you notice that you are gaining in weight, exercise both night and morning, no matter how tired you may be. A series of exercises will keep the flesh from accumulating of the following movements:
Stand erect with the hands on the hips, bend the knees and bring the body to a sitting posture, as low as possible. Rise again and repeat the entire movement at least fifteen or twenty times. The second movement is to stand erect in an upright position with hands flat against your sides and bend far over to the right, allowing the right hand to drop below the knee. Now reverse the movement and bend over to the left. Bend to each side alternately at least half a dozen times.

A third exercise which is excellent for the muscles of the back, as well as to reduce flesh, begins with the body bent erect, with arms outstretched in front and hands together. Then swing the torso down to the left side, keeping the knees stiff and bending the body from the waist. Repeat the movement to the right. Repeat the movement, bending to each side alternately until you feel fatigued.

If your hips are too pronounced, use this exercise: Stand erect with both hands on the hips, raise the right leg, bringing the knees up as high as possible. Repeat this movement ten times on each side.

Paul—The anchor dropped.
Sweet Thing—I thought that'd happen; I saw it dangling over the side when we came up.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

PRIVATE HARRY HATTTON.

Private Harry R. Hattton, who is with the Headquarters Company of the 324th Heavy Field Artillery, has written home from England. He told of the arrival of the regiment and his letter was among the first to be received from any of the Newark boys. He is the son of Mrs. George Wise of Wilson street and was formerly a moulder at the Wehrle company.

The following letter carefully censored has been received from George Schaller of the Headquarters company of the 324th Heavy Field Artillery, which landed in England. Mr. Schaller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Schaller of 11 Maholm street.

Close to Liverpool 6 P.M. Irish Sea June 23, 1918.

Dear Ma, Pa, Flo and Crisp:
We have had a very nice trip all the way over and have had very nice weather.

There are — transports in our bunch, which carries about — troops. We came through the — and will get into the — before we get to — and they expect to get there between — and — tonight where we land.

I have seen — and will see — in a short time, all in one day. There were quite a few got sea sick but I have felt good all the way over, did not see anything but ship and water for — days.

I am feeling fine and hope all are the same at home. So don't worry for everything is all right and am enjoying it.

We haven't had any thing to do, but I was on look out guard duty for a week, and all I saw was flying fish and porpoise. We have an escort of about — sub chasers.

There are about — troops on this boat.

For the last two nights it has been light almost all the time just dark for a couple of hours that was up around — they call it the midnight sun. I don't know what I am allowed to write yet so will close.

CAMP SHERMAN NOTES

(Associated Press Telegram)
Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., July 20. Assignment of 52 privates and non-coms to the officers' training school at Camp Lee, Virginia, was announced at Camp Sherman today.

The order authorizing their transfer says that these men have been found proficient for this special training. They will be candidates for commission in the infantry.

That alien soldiers who have been once expressed in writing a willingness to serve in the army will not be discharged, either in their own or someone else's request, was the gist of a memorandum issued at division headquarters yesterday. The status of the enemy alien soldier is reviewed and officers are ordered to investigate immediately applications from any source for discharge because of enemy alien age. Opportunity for discharge is given to all enemy aliens inducted into the army.

A revised and shortened routine for rifle-range practice has been ordered at the camp. "The course of instruction," ironically says the bulletin, "announcing the change, 'should be snappy and practicable. Long discussions will be avoided.'"

The 30th sanitary train is now encamped in the infantry trenches for some intensive outdoor work. They will occupy the trenches for several days.

WAR WORK ORGANIZATION WILL BOOST W. S. S. SALES DURING WEEK OF AUGUST 5TH

The Licking county war work organization of 500 men is planning for a county-wide campaign in the interest of War Savings stamps during the week beginning August 5. Chairman E. C. Wright sent letters to the twenty-six township chairmen yesterday evening directing them to organize their forces, plan for one or more public meetings, and get ready for action beginning August 6. A meeting of the executive committee was held last night where the local plans were discussed and formulated to some extent. In the absence of Prof. Moninger, Rev. G. Bohon Schmitt will have charge of the speakers' bureau.

In order to reach the quota for 1918 this county must sell $540,000 worth of stamps. The county is up with the quota to date and now the war work organization volunteers to lend a helping hand and put old Licking over the top in a four-day drive. Several Ohio counties have already sold their entire year's quota. At the present time Licking ranks nineteenth out of 88 Ohio counties in per capita sales, but only one other county (Clark) shows a greater volume of sales among the 19 counties that are leading the state. The quota for Ohio is $106,000,000—the quota for Licking county is $1,236,180, or about $4000 every week day of 1918. The quota is $20 for every person in Ohio.

Of the $540,000 worth of stamps still to be sold in this county, $270,000 are to be sold in Newark and the remaining half in the county and village districts. Each township chairman has been given a quota and has been asked to organize to meet it during the week of August 5.

The Licking county war work organization made a great record in the third Liberty loan campaign, and a wonderful success of the war chest drive. It will not fall in the W. S. campaign.

The local campaign may be said to open next Wednesday night, July 24, when Madame Petrova, the famous movie star, will appear here in person at the Auditorium. Madame Petrova has visited 19 large cities and has sold $400,000 worth of War Savings stamps. She is traveling at her own expense and receives no compensation whatsoever. Next Wednesday night when she appears here, a Petrova picture will be shown too.

The world's best investment is W. S. S. It is not taxable, pays 4.27 per cent interest, is absolutely safe and the government guarantees to pay back both principal and interest any time after 10 days notice.

RELIEF FOR ELECTRIC RAILWAYS
15 CITIES GRANT 6 OR 7 CENT FARE

(The Columbus Week.)
Statistics collected by the American Electric Railway Association giving the financial transactions of electric railways for the first quarter of 1918 as compared with the same period of 1917, show that operating revenues increased 2.54 per cent, and operating expenses 11.17 per cent, while net incomes decreased 13.79 per cent. The operating ratio for the country, increased from 65.68 per cent of gross in 1917 to 71.20 per cent of gross in 1918.

The state of Massachusetts has administered a severe blow to state regulation, removing a majority of the mileage of its electric roads from the jurisdiction of the Public Service commission, and providing for automatic fare regulation for those companies which desire to avail themselves of the plan.

The cities under the jurisdiction of the Second District, New York Public Service commission, are fast recognizing the necessity for higher fares. Twelve communities have agreed to waive franchise rights, should the Public Service commission declare the need. Two other cities are making examinations of the books of their street railways with the idea of granting increases should the examination prove the need.

Out of the sixty-seven cities in the United States having more than 100,000 population, a six-cent fare is in effect in thirteen, three having increased fares through the zone system, four have abolished reduced rate tickets, four cities have asked for a seven-cent fare with additional charges for transfers, twelve have asked for a six-cent fare, two have asked for permission to charge for transfers and thirteen for relief in other forms.

The War Finance Corporation has announced that it will refuse loans to public utilities, unless their rates are sufficient to insure the integrity of their securities.

It is the desire of the National Railroad Administration that fares on interurban roads be increased to three cents a mile to put them on a parity with those of the steam roads and the interurbans will receive assistance in their application for such an increase.

London, England, is to increase its tramway fares, by the shortening of zones and the abolition of transfers and low fare tickets.

A seven-cent fare is being collected on the municipally owned and operated road at Edmonton, Canada. A seven-cent fare has been authorized in Wilmington, Del., which is the first city in the country of more than 100,000 inhabitants to permit the two-cent addition.

By a referendum vote the people of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, have authorized the local company to charge a six-cent fare.

HOW MUCH MONEY WILL YOUR FAMILY NEED WHEN YOU ARE GONE? HERE'S THE MINIMUM AMOUNT YOUR UNCLE SAM SAYS THEY WOULD NEED:

For a widow alone	not less than $30 per month
For a widow and 1 child	not less than $30 per month
For a widow and 2 children	not less than $50 per month
For a widowed mother	not less than $25 per month
For one child	not less than $15 per month
For 2 motherless children	not less than $25 per month
For 3 motherless children	not less than $35 per month

It goes without saying that these amounts would provide the bare necessities of life and that is all—no luxuries.

Of course, you want to leave your wife and kiddies more than this. But will you? Take your pencil and figure.

How much are your total cash savings on hand?	$
How much life insurance?	$
How much would your other property bring after paying mortgages, debts, funeral expenses, etc.	$

Invested at five per cent this would produce yearly	$

A Midland MONTHLY INCOME POLICY is the answer.

By saving a few cents daily you can right now provide the monthly income your wife and kiddies will need, and the Midland's check will go to your wife each month as long as she lives, or until your youngest child will be of age.

FOR SHERIFF.

To Voters of Licking County, Ohio: I am a resident of Newark, and a taxpayer of Licking County, and as such I am interested in an efficient as well as an economical administration of public offices.

As a candidate for the nomination for Sheriff on the Democratic Ticket at the primaries to be held August 13th, 1918, I ask your support for the reason that I conscientiously believe that I am fitted and qualified for the office of Sheriff in every respect.

I promise, if nominated and elected, to conduct the office of Sheriff on business lines that will insure economy, efficiency and fair dealing to the taxpayers and the public generally.

FOR COUNTY RECORDER.

JOSEPH RENZ.

Democratic Candidate for County Recorder at Primary Election, Tuesday, August 13. Born and lived in Newark all his life. Your vote and influence solicited. His ability and past experience make him a competent man in every respect. 7-20-1t

"Clothes don't make the man," quoted the Wise Guy. "I don't know about that," retorted the Simple Mug. "Khaki is pretty good evidence he isn't a slacker."

Chamber of Commerce Activities

Requests have been numerous lately for copies of the annual report of the Chamber of Commerce from all parts of the country. The July issue of "The American City," commented favorably on the report. To anyone who is not familiar with the work that the Newark organization is doing the report will prove interesting and a copy will be sent to anyone who so requests.

The Chamber of Commerce, through its monthly bulletin, "Community Spirit," is issuing the following appeal to its members. It should apply to every business man, every manufacturer, and, in fact, to every individual.

"Get the 'victory punch' into your business letters. Pessimism is more infectious than a cold. One doubter can give the chills to a room full of people. The germ of this disease often creeps into our correspondence and does more harm than the spoken word.

"So the federal department of commerce suggests now, that the winter spirit be got into all business letters everywhere. Originally the idea was proposed to apply to mail letters to foreign countries. Here the color of our thoughts is searched for eagerly between the lines we write.

In view of the many opportunities afforded by war conditions it is remarkable that the number of fake solicitors and collectors is as small as it is. Of course, all reputable war agencies provide their solicitors and collectors with easily recognizable credentials; then, too, the war chest takes care of the principal activities having to do with the prosecution of the war. There are, however, a number of persons of doubtful antecedents who are preying on the public for subscriptions in one guise or another. The best advice that can be given at present is to contribute nothing to any charity on solicitation until you have first assured yourself that it is worthy. The chamber is always ready to give any information it can that will inform you as to the real status of any charitable organization. The chamber's endorsement means that the institution has been thoroughly investigated.

THE LODGES

K. OF P.

Roland Lodge.

The session on Tuesday evening of this week opened promptly on time and the attendance at the opening was a gratifying surprise to the officers. Considerable business was transacted and adjournment to the club rooms made before 9 o'clock. A feature a little out of the ordinary was a proposition made by that old war-horse and loyal Pythian, Brother C. L. Vanatta. Ask him about it or come out next Tuesday evening and hear it explained further. You may be interested. Next week the page rank will be conferred by the new officers and they will make a supreme effort to exemplify this degree in first-class fashion. They also guarantee to be through with the work by 8:30. While they are out to make a record for pep and speed this term their efforts will in no wise detract from the impressiveness of this beautiful degree. Visiting Knights are also cordially invited.
